Northwind Textiles Limited

Annual Report for the year ended 31 March 2025 (all amounts in millions)

Management discussion

The company achieved record revenue and strong profit growth this year. Management expanded into new export markets with rising customer demand for technical fabrics. The group improved operating margins through cost efficiency and reduced debt during the period. Cash flow was higher and the board increased dividends. However, the company faces significant liquidity risk because several large customers may delay payments. The business is exposed to cotton price volatility and currency movements that could reduce margins. Management recorded an impairment charge on an older spinning plant. The company is dependent on a small number of customers who may reduce orders. The company is incorporated in India and operates through three business segments. The board held its annual general meeting during the year.
